

Initial Meeting Notes

Nick can interpret the content of the creative brief.

I encourage him to explore ideas and concepts and ideas on his own, but will also also in guiding his process.

We talked about things like building the project to emphasize verticality, starting at the bottom and scrolling up.

We discussed sourcing images so they look consistent, and working with a structure that is easily legible in its progression.